SATURDAY, DECEMBER 31. 1737.

11-786

Yesterday arrived a Mail from Holland, and another from Flanders.

LETTERS of the 4th Instant, O. S. from Petersburg say, That another Express arriv'd there two Days before, from the General de Stoffeln, Commandant in Chief at Oczakow, with a very ample Journal of all the Transactions in the Siege of that Place: By which it appears, That the Ottoman Army consisted of 50,000 Turks, and 70,000 Tartars: That the Porte had made a Present of 15 Ducats to every Turk, to encourage them to do their Duty; and promised to double it when they returned, in case they took Oczakow: That the Besiegers discharged 7000 Cannon Shot upon the Place, and threw in 3652 Bombs; which, however, did no Execution, there being not so much as a Single House burnt: That 50 Turks, who by leaping into the Water, found Means to enter into the Town, by the Gate of Liman, which was open, cry'd out Victory; upon which the Russians ran thither, and put every Man of 'em to the Sword: That the Commandant did not exactly know the Number of the Infidels that were kill'd, but that he had already caused above 3000 of 'em to be buried: That on the Part of the Russians there were but 300 kill'd, and 700 wounded. That the Garrison, which had no Rest neither Day nor Night, had desired the Commandant to make no Terms with the Enemy, every Soldier being resolved to die with Sword in Hand, in Defence of the Fortrefs, rather than to surrender it: That the Commandant, charm'd at this Resolution, had caused several Trenches to be made in the Town, in order to defend it to the last Extremity, &c.

The Son of the General de Stoffeln, who brought the first News of the raising of the Siege, relates a very remarkable Circumstance; viz. That so many of the Houses were burnt when the Russians took the Place, that the Soldiers of the Garrison were forc'd to dig themselves Lodgings under Ground; that the Officers themselves have the same Quarters; and that General Stoffeln lodges under one of the Gates of the Town.

We are told, that this General is a Native of Franconia, who has raised himself purely by his Abilities, to his present Station in the Russian Army.

Twenty Pair of the Colours taken from the Turks, have been hung up in one of the Rooms of the Czarina's Palace. We are assured, that the whole Number taken from them at the raising of the said Siege, was not less than 70; but that the Russian Soldiers tore the others in Pieces, and made Cravats of 'em, which they sell to one another for 4 or 5 Rubles apiece, and wear in Memory of that Action.

The Russian Court has Advice by Letters from Moldavia, that most of the Turks wounded Men perished by a sudden Frost that seized them during their Retreat, that their Lots in this Expedition was computed at above 20,000 Men, and that the Confirmation thereupon among the Infidels was inexpressible.

By another Express it has receiv'd from the Czarina's Resident at Isfahan, it appears that the Peace between the Ottoman Porte and Kouli Kan of Persia, is not yet concluded; and that the Turkish Ambassador, who arrived at Isfahan the 20th of July last, was not to have his Audience of the said Prince, till after his Return from his Expedition to Candahar. Mean time there are Letters by the way of France, from Bassora in the Gulph of Persia, which say, that as Kouli Kan was carrying on the Siege of that Capital, he was Assassinated by one of his Domesticks that had been corrupted by the Party that was restoring the only surviving Branch of the ancient Sophis to the Throne: But this Piece of News requires Confirmation, tho' 'tis too important not to be mentioned.

Letters of the 14th Inst. O. S. from Vienna say, the Committee for inquiring into the Behaviour of Count Seckendorff, after having had no less than 3 Meetings in one Week at his House, wherein they settled the Method in which they are to proceed, have adjourn'd their farther Proceedings till after the Holidays; and that in the mean time their President the Count d'Harrach having ask'd the Emperor whether 'twas his Pleasure that they should produce his Imperial Majesty's Letters to Count Seckendorff as Evidence, has obtained his Permission, since his Imperial Majesty sent him no Orders but what were in consequence of his Projects and Relations, and since those Letters cannot be his Justification, if the Commission finds his Relations and Schemes ill founded.

From Ratisbon, by Letters of the 18th they write, that the Electoral College has consented to the raising 50 Roman Months, to enable the Emperor to prosecute the War against the Turks, and resolved that this extraordinary Subsidy shall be paid in 6 Weeks, and remitted to Vienna.

In the Leipzick Gazette of Jan. 1. N. S. there's the following Article, which is the more surprising, because the News it contains is what has hitherto never enter'd into the Thoughts of the Publick, viz.

By the last Letters from Vienna, we have the agreeable News that on the 24th ult. the Ambassador of Spain at the Imperial Court had dispatch'd Expresses to the French and other European Courts, to acquaint them, that a Marriage is concluded between the King of the Two Sicilies, and the Princess Mary Amelia, eldest Daughter of the King of Poland, and Elector of Saxony. N. B. She is but little above 13 Years of Age, and Don Carlos is about 21.

This Extraordinary Transaction appears to be an entire Secret at Vienna, from whence we are told, that it was, indeed, reported there on the 14th, that the Count de Fuenclara, the Spanish Ambassador at that Court, had just concluded an Affair of Importance, but of what Nature it was they could not tell; only 'twas observed, that there was, the Day before, a great Bustle at the Ambassador's House, and that several Couriers were then dispatch'd to Foreign Courts, and particularly one to Naples, who was order'd to make all the Haste possible.

The Letters add, That a contagious Distemper makes great Havock in Transylvania; and by the Emperor's Order several Physicians and Surgeons are sent into that Country, to try if they can stop its Progress.

A Letter from Petersburg says the Courtiers have laid great Wagers, that there will be a Peace between the Russians and Turks before April or May next: And, indeed, there are several Circumstances make it probable enough, provided Kouli Kan does not take any Steps contrary to the late Assurances which he has given the Russian Court, that he will maintain a perfect Understanding with it, and not contract any Engagements that may be prejudicial to it.
